

Scholarships Available to Students Pursuing
Forestry, Natural Resource Management and/or Environmental Science
Sandy Cochran Memorial Fund Scholarship

One mission of the privately endowed Sandy Cochran Memorial Fund is to support students who are committed to pursuing a career in forestry, natural resource management and/or environmental science – and then applying that knowledge to provide the very best in natural resource management to the 17-county region of northwestern Pennsylvania and southwestern New York*. Sandy Cochran believed that people should work safely, apply best management practices in the forests, cultivate the most promising markets for our wood products, stay informed on the most recent research results and technologies, and work to create a policy environment led by well-informed political leaders. He wanted the best and brightest youth to study for forestry and related careers. His friends and colleagues created this fund to further Sandy’s wishes.

The endowment funds approximately 1 – 4 scholarships annually, with a value ranging from $250 - $1,000, depending on available funds and on the number and quality of applicants. Scholarships are awarded for study in 2 or 4-year programs in forestry, natural resource management and/or environmental science, and are available to high-school seniors about to begin their studies as well as to current college students.

Applicants must submit a cover sheet, an essay indicating how their career aspirations align with the Cochran vision, one or more letters of reference, and their most recent high school or college transcript.

Submission details, timeline and Applications can be found at www.sandycochran.org.
